Recording Memories

in our Senior Year . . .

George Jurich and Dick Krabal decide that it pays to advertise.

Patty Pavic and Jo Ann Rolish settle business problems.

To us belong remembrances of things past as another year ends. Behind us are many hours of reading, writing, and studying our lessons.

Then too, the swiftly passing years held happier moments. The dances, the prom, the play, and the assembly programs were our "cheerful troubles" as time passed and commencement approached. This is our record of those memories.

We are happy to present THE ELEVATOR to our parents, teachers, friends, and classmates.

Mrs. Orletsky instructs Alvin Jones, Celina Maleniak, and Joe Rishell in advanced mathematics.

Class History

As freshmen, the students were excited about the forthcoming year. There were many activities and sports that could be joined. Freshman dances and a skating party were held.

Bake sales and skating parties were two of the activities in the sophomore year. The selling of magazines, however, was the most profitable and popular activity. The class realized how much money would be needed for the Prom, so the sophomore year was a very busy one.

The junior year was one of great activity. The biggest and most profitable money-making idea was the selling of peanuts. As in other years, the class held dances, skating parties, and bake sales. They worked diligently all year for the sucess of the Junior-Senior Prom. On May 12, at the Masonic Temple, the juniors were rewarded for their hard work and everyone had a wonderful time. The Prom was a success.

"Our Big Year!" With the class president, Walter Trahanovsky, as the leader, the class tackled the most important project of the year, the task of publishing the yearbook. All activities were motivated by this publication. One of the first projects, and the biggest, was the selling of candy. Penants, flower bulbs, and Christmas candy were also sold. A skating party was held and a guess cake was chanced off.

Sylvia Anderson, Dick Krabal, and Joe Cronan observe distillation experiment.

Paul Volchansky reads Red Cross Award to Tom Faight and Ron Gossard.

Bill Turner distributes candy to Marian Howarth and John Goss.

THE JUNIORS . . .

A Year Away From Their Goal . . . Graduation

The junior class officers discuss plans for the prom.

OFFICERS

President	James Roberts
Vice President	Frances Maleniak
Secretary	Joan Kosty
Treasurer	Margaret Labosky

The juniors began their eleventh year by electing the following homeroom representatives: James Corey, Janice Courter, Moses Gray, John Kosty, James Kenjesky, Mary Agnes Migyanka, William Roberts, and Yvonne Yewcic.

Mr. Wissinger appointed the homeroom teachers, Mrs. Lentz, Mrs. Orletsky, Mr. Fesko, and Mr. Wertz, advisors.

The most important event of the year was the Prom which made it necessary to hold various money-making projects. At the first meeting of the class on October 25, plans for raising money were discussed.

In November the class held a dance in the Legion, and in December many cartons of nuts were sold to the public for the Christmas holidays.

The big project which added greatly to the treasury was the talent show, "The Korny Kapers." Some of the students entered the contest and guest artists performed. The three best entries were selected by impartial judges and awards were presented.

May tenth—the long awaited day—soon arrived! The juniors and seniors met at the Masonic Temple for the Prom where a delicious dinner, an entertaining program, and a gala evening of dancing were provided by the juniors. This event concluded a wonderful year for the graduates and a happy one for the juniors.

The class, numbering seventy-two, hopes to complete the final year of high school together.

Path of Knowledge

. . . SOPHOMORES

We began our sophomore year in school with the usual hustle and bustle of a new year. This year it was more exciting because of our new friends from Conemaugh Township. Altogether there were 53 sophomores.

We then elected class officers: Leo Flook, president; Joe Antonazzo, vice president; Sylvia Matson, secretary; Mary Myers, treasurer.

At our first meeting we decided to sell salt-water taffy which proved to be a worthwhile sale. During the year we held various activities such as our Christmas Dance which was held on December 30, at the Legion.

Our biggest money making project was the sale of magazine subscriptions which increased our treasury. We held these activities in order to make money for our big event, the Prom next year.

On February tenth, several of the boys in our class went on a field trip to visit the Bethlehem Steel Mills. The trip was supervised by Mr. Prohonic, the industrial art teacher.

This also was the first year that we were permitted to be in the mixed chorus. Naturally, this was a great thrill.

Our thanks to Mr. DiMauro and Miss Dawson who helped us a great deal with all our activities.

Taffy sales are recorded by the sophomore officers.

School opened with a bang! We were confronted with new schedules and new classmates. Trying to get to the right classroom on time was the most confusing thing about our new surroundings.

The first duty of the freshman class was the election of homeroom representatives. Bernice Komisar, Terry Kenjesky, Patricia Penko, Marie Rozum, Gladys Hill, Judy Hildebrand, Stanley Suboleski, and Paulette Krisko were elected.

Soon sports activities began. We were greatly excited for this was the beginning of four years of sports activities for a great number of us.

Our studies included work in home economics and industrial arts. In home economics, during the first semester, the girls made jumpers and skirts. These took much time and effort, but soon every girl had finished her project. The second semester was spent making many delicious things in cooking classes. The boys made house numbers for their own houses, studied mechanical drawing, and learned about the uses of many different machines in industrial arts classes.

Our thanks go to Mrs. Babyak, Miss Krueger, and Mr. Singel, our advisors, who have helped and supervised the freshman class to a great extent and counseled us in our many problems.

All of us are eagerly awaiting next year and our entrance into senior high.

STRIKE UP THE BAND

At the beginning of the year the band elected the following officers: President, Robert Kalinyak; vice president, Walter Trahanovsky; and secretary-treasurer, Marlene Melillo.

Activities began with the football season. The band drilled every day after school in preparation for the games.

Not only did they march at the football games, but they also paraded around Conemaugh and held a Pep Rally the night before every home game.

The numbers that were used were, "Steppin' Slipper," "Tweedle Dee," "Hat Dance," "Chapianecas," "La Cumparsita," "Stepping High," and "Story of the Two Alumni." The members enjoyed producing these attractions as much as the spectators liked watching them.

Chancing off a "Guess Cake" was their first money-making project. December 27, they sponsored the singing Gay family in Country Show, held in the auditorium. The proceeds from these projects purchased the senior jackets.

. . . MUSIC

Anything From a March to a Symphony

Orchestra

This year as in every other year, the high school orchestra played for the graduation exercises held in the high school auditorium. Hours of hard work were put into preparation for the big occasion. March of the Priests was the processional chosen by Mr. Singel, the music director.

Eighteen students played in the orchestra. They were all underclassmen since the senior musicians took part in the graduation exercises.

The members of the orchestra received many compliments on their fine performance.

Pep Band

The purpose of the band was to create an enthusiastic atmosphere to help spur our team to victory.

The band is becoming a must at all pep rallies. The Washington Post March, On the Square, Colonel Boogie, and Military Escort were the musical numbers that everyone enjoyed.

Under the direction of Mr. Singel, this organization has had a very successful year. We hope the band will continue to improve with as much vigor and enthusiasm as it has in past years.

Cadet Band

The Cadet Band is composed of junior high school students who are preparing to become members of the high school band. Previously having been called the Junior High Band, it is now known as the Cadet Band.

This offered the students an outlet for their musical ability and also trained them to work together.

This year we had students from both Conemaugh and Conemaugh Township. The members promoted to the high school band included Ronald Kalinyak, Ronald Novitsky, Eugene Clawson, David Beam, and Louis Kopler.

Dance Band

The Dance Band played for the senior class play, the Spring Festival, and school dances.

Only the cream of the school's instrumentalists were members of the group. This accounted for the mellow blend of saxes, trumpets, and trombones which emanated from the auditorium at rehearsal time. The students appreciated the advice and leadership they received from Mr. Singel, who filled in on string bass when necessary.

The graduating members are Elizabeth Allison, Robert Kalinyak, Lee Page, and Walter Trahanovsky.

Mixed Chorus

The premiere of the chorus was heralded by "Christmas Bells" at the Christmas assembly.

Rehearsal for the Spring Festival began soon after the holidays. "Incline Thine Ear," "Dry Bones," "Sentimental Journey," and "Kentucky Babe" were the new numbers that were presented on the program.

Lee Page, Walter Trahanovsky, Elsie Daley, Rita Orletsky, and Mary Daugherty represented this group at County Chorus in Hastings.

Because of the brilliance and depth in tone, the alto, the bass, the tenor, and the soprano singers were outstanding in all their appearances.

Majorettes

The majorette corps consisted of eight members: Rita Orletsky, head majorette, Marlene Melillo, senior; Frances Malinyak, Joan Kosty, Dorothy Mandrick, Mabel Brazil, Sandra Yingling and Mary Louise Myers.

At all the football games the majorettes performed various routines which coincided with the songs. The Franklin game highlighted the year with a Latin-American dance.

Rita has been majorette for eleven years and Marlene for two years.

Splendid cooperation among the majorettes was responsible for a successful season.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY . . .

The Play Is The Thing

Come Over to Our House was the dramatic highlight of the year. The academic and commercial dramatics classes combined their acting talent to produce this play.

The story revolves around the Eldrige Family who live in "Small Town, U. S. A." The mother, a vivacious widow, is portrayed by Donna Cobaugh. There are three children. The oldest are the twins: Lindy, Marlene Melillo; and Jay, Walter Trahanovsky. Lindy is a lively high school senior; Jay lives for classical music. Marian, the youngest daughter played by Patricia Pavic, wants to become a great dramatic actress. As the play unfolds, it involves Jay's grandmother, his mother's two or three romances, a Hollywood scout, and a Russian conductor. Of course, everyone offers a solution. The Eldrige children learn the childishness of their selfishness, and Mrs. Eldrige discovers the importance of love.

The play sparkled with the bright wit of modern youth.

. . . CLUBS

Key Club

The purpose of the Key Club is to help people who need assistance.

This year the club tried its best to fulfill this duty by donating baskets of food to needy families for Thanksgiving and Christmas, aiding in the Tuberculosis and March of Dimes drives, making a Student Faculty Directory, holding a banquet for parents, and cleaning the trophy case and library every week.

Steering this club to its success were Walter Trahanovsky, president; Victor Rovansek, vice-president; Paul Robert Volchansky, secretary; James Roberts, treasurer; and Mr. Riblett, advisor.

The graduating members wish the club greater success in the future.

Hi-Y

The Conemaugh Hi-Y was organized on October 24, when fifteen new members were admitted from the junior class. On October 21, the following officers were elected: William Yingling, president; Thomas Faight, vice-president; John Kosty, secretary; and Lee Page, treasurer. James Roberts volunteered to be the chaplain. Mr. Wertz was the advisor.

James Roberts and Moses Gray were sent to Greensburg in December to represent the club in the regional conference.

In February the boys sold lapel crosses.

The purpose of the Hi-Y is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character.

The Speech Club met the third Friday of every month. At the first meeting these officers were elected: president, Joseph Cronin; vice-president, Nancy Skrodinsky; secretary, Darlene Bulich; and treasurer, Janice Allison.

The purpose of the club was to encourage interest in the speech class. At the meetings the members conducted programs which were usually based on a holiday theme. Refreshments were served at some of the meetings.

Mrs. Babyak, the sponsor, helped the members prepare the material used during these meetings.

The members found these meetings very helpful in their studies of the art of speaking.

Latin Club

During the first meeting of the Latin Club these officers were elected: president, Janice Allison; vice-president, Mary Myers; secretary, Phillip Sikurenic; and treasurer, Gayle Boring.

The club met the first Thursday of each month. The purpose of the club was to help the members understand their lessons and to encourage interest in Latin.

The members of the club related stories from Roman mythology. Games which furthered the knowledge of Latin words and numbers were played. Miss Treece, our sponsor, showed picture-slides concerning Roman days and customs. These helped us to understand the people whose language we studied.

At the first meeting the following officers were elected: Jo Ann Rolish, president; Dorothy Mandrick, vice president; Marian Howarth, secretary; and Donna Cobaugh, treasurer.

The club members paid twenty-five cents a month dues, and the proceeds were used to send a junior girl to Bethany. In February, "The Kupid Capers" was held. Terry Ford was elected king and Gertrude Reynolds was elected queen of the dance.

At the first meeting of the Junior Y-Teens, the following officers were elected: president, Sylvia Matson; vice-president, Mary Ann Sokach; secretary, Mary Louise Myers; assistant secretary, Peggy Donnelly; treasurer, Barbara Calpin, and assistant treasurer, Bernice Komisar.

This year the Junior Y-Teens changed their goal from working for jackets to service projects. The project began at Christmas time when the club bought and gathered food and toys to give to a family in the borough.

The first successful activity this year was a "Necking Party" held in the school gym, where everyone's neck was measured and a penny an inch was paid by the guests.

ACTIVE GROUPS

Seated—Sylvia Anderson, Mary Ann Andrews. Standing—Mary Daugherty, Elizabeth Allison, John Dubay, Alvin Jones, Walter Trahanovsky.

French Clubs

French Club I and French Club II held their meetings once a month. The officers of French Club I were: Margaret Labosky, president; Dorothy Fetsik, vice president; Janice Courter, secretary; Janice Montgomery, treasurer.

The officers of French Club II were: Walter Trahanovsky, president; Alvin Jones, vice president; Mary Daugherty, secretary; Mary Ann Andrews, treasurer.

The purpose of the clubs was to give the students a better understanding of the French people and their language. This was done in the cultural portion of the programs by showing slides of famous buildings, industries, and life in France. The members also gave reports on French holidays, music, life, and schools. The life of Joan of Arc highlighted one of the meetings.

One of the activities of French Club II was a dance held in the gymnasium. They also held a party, a hike, and a picnic. In addition to these social events, each class member had a pen pal in France.

Literary Clubs

The members of the senior class organized a Literary Club that met once a month to study world literature.

The officers were elected at the first meeting which was held in September. Anna Starchok, our president, was assisted in the programs by the vice president, Ronald Gossard. The secretary, Richard Krabal, kept the minutes in good order, while the important office of treasurer was efficiently held by Walter Trahanovsky.

The most important project of the senior club was the donation of books. Some were exchanged within the club, others were sold at a book sale, and some were given to the Key Club.

The juniors also organized a Literary Club and elected William Roberts, president; Margaret Labosky, vice president; Gayle Boring, secretary; John Kosty, treasurer; and James Kenjesky, librarian.

Reports on authors and games based on literature were enjoyed by the groups at the monthly meetings.

CLUBS . . .

Pep Club

The Pep Club started out with a bang! The first meeting was held in September, and fifty-three girls requested membership. All were accepted, and the officers were elected as follows: Donna Cobaugh, president; Margaret Labosky, vice-president; Janice Courtier, secretary; Barbara Pristas, treasurer; and Pearl Ondick, sergeant-at-arms.

To start our fund raising campaign, red and blue combs were sold. The second activity was a Celebrity Dance, that was held at the American Legion. The top honors went to "Clarabell." She was our own Dorothy Mandrick, who portrayed the famous TV clown from Howdy Doody.

Home Ec Club

Every Wednesday the Home Ec Club met in the home economics room for the purpose of learning to cook and to understand homemaking.

At the first meeting they elected the following officers: first chief cook, Richard Svopa; second chief cook, Michael Hiborik; first assistant cook, Ray Martin; second assistant cook, Thomas Faight; and chairman of all committees, Donna Cobaugh.

After learning the fundamentals of cooking, the class also learned the "clean up" rules—washing dishes and cleaning stoves and sinks.

Field trips to Kolb's Bakery and the American Store Bakery demonstrated to the class the various processes in the baking industry.

The members had an enjoyable and profitable year.

HOME ROOM REPRESENTATIVES

"Our Voice of Democracy"

Preceding the regular election of officers last fall, the pupils balloted for representatives – three from each home room – who were to serve throughout the year as student congressmen.

These "Congressmen" voiced the opinions of the high-school student body and nominated for class offices the people whom they felt would be able to lead the classes throughout the school year. Their voices in class matters generally reflected the attitudes of their group. This introduction to democratic government in school was the best means of practicing better leadership and better citizenship.

Those seniors who served as home room representatives during the past four years were: Jo Ann Rolish – 3; Patricia Pavic – 2; William Yingling – 3; Marlene Melillo – 3; William Turner – 2; Earla Lenhart – 2; Bob Kalinyak – 2; Harriet Carl – 2; Larry Boring – 3; Rita Orletsky – 3; Walter Trahanovsky – 2; Thomas Goldie – 1; Ronald Gossard – 1.

ATHLETICS . . . Developed Sportsmanship

The Varsity "C" Club was organized in the second week of September. Twenty-eight athletes were eligible for membership because each had participated in the required number of games.

They elected the following officers to head the organization: president, Larry Boring; vice-president, Thomas Goldie; secretary-treasurer, Joe Rishell. Mr. Slavich was the adviser.

Eighteen lettermen were awarded sweaters at the end of the school year. In order to raise money to purchase the awards, programs were sold at football and basketball games; dances were held; and soft drinks were sold at weekly church league games. The best money making projects were selling football pins and pencils with basket ball schedules printed on the pencils. Rounding out the busy year, the boys sponsored movies in the auditorium and intramural basketball games in the gymnasium.

Each member of the club wishes to thank the students who purchased pens and pencils and who participated in intramurals.

Our Happy Warriors of the Gridiron

With eighteen lettermen returning from the previous season, the Iron Horses looked forward to a favorable season on the gridiron. On the sixteenth of August, 43 boys reported for physical examinations and to be issued equipment. Two days later the squad began regular practice sessions. This year the boys worked out on a new field known to the players as "Windy Hill."

Richland, Westmont, and United Joint were scrimmaged before the regular season started.

Finally, the big day arrived. The Horses, after building up their offensive and defensive power, were ready for the Red Devils of Ebensburg. Remembering last year's score, the Iron Horses fought hard and came out victorious.

Shade Township turned the tables in the last minutes of playing time and tied the score.

At Boswell it rained during the whole game, but the Steeds were used to this and won the game.

Because Adams Township used an ineligible player, that game was awarded to us.

Ferndale scored the first touchdown, but the Horses came through to add them to the list of victories.

After losing to our rivals from across the river, the boys bounced right back by walking away from Catholic High.

Portage and Somerset, our last two games, though hard fought by the whole team, failed to raise our number of wins.

At the end of the season, the record stood at five wins, three losses, and one tie. This record is the best the Horses have turned in since 1949. Much credit for this goes to our coaching staff, Mr. Yewcic, and Mr. Adams. Good luck to the Horses of 1956.

True Confessions

Of

With no regrets I filled in the blanks on the following pages of this Naughty Autobiography, a lasting record of my days in the Greater Conemaugh Joint High School.

A NAUGHTY

The approximate number of hours spent at the Fire Hall.

The number of "F's" I received during my career at C. H. S.

Who is my "model teacher?"

Whom would I name as Miss 1956 of Greater Conemaugh Jt. High School?

With whom did I go to the Junior-Senior Prom?

The person who wore my class ring.

AUTOBIOGRAPHY

The teacher who gave me the most homework.

The number of football players I did not have a crush on.

How many hours I loafed in the library?

The biggest wolf or "wolfess" in the class of '56.

How many times did I glance at my neighbor's paper during a test?

How many times I became ill on test day?

IF I HAD TO DO IT OVER

My favorite excuse for not having my home work done.

How many times did I go to the Encyclopedia for a book report?

Who was my first date at Greater Conemaugh Joint High School?

How many times I was late.

Who would I name as Mr. 1956 of Greater Conemaugh Joint High School?

The number of times I played "hookey".

WOULD I?

The number of desks that I helped to fill with candy papers.

The number of times that I was sent to the office.

My favorite blonde.

The personality I wouldn't mind getting stuck in an Elevator with?

How many times I "sneaked" into school before the bell.

How many times I wish that I could be a student once again at Greater Conemaugh Joint High School.
